FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Spiritual warfare (Part 1)

Text: Ephesians 6:10-18

In our previous studies from the book of Ephesians, we've considered that we're all connected together, benefitting from each other on this journey. And last week we talked about the balance of power in relationships and forming a synergy that helps us all to thrive. Today, we will be delving into spiritual warfare; a topic which often leads into misunderstanding.

Consider David who won every battle he fought. He was so successful that all feared and revered him. For example, three of his followers braved being captured and broke through the camp of the Philistines to get him water from the well of Bethlehem when he expressed a desire for some (2 Sam 23:15-17). When he wanted to build a temple for God, he was told his hands have been stained by too much blood (1 Chro 28:2-3).

Wars create a misconception that the enemy we're fighting is physical. Our enemies are spiritual and unseen; not your colleague, neighbour or someone who insulted you. In fact, Jesus said love your enemies and praise those who spitefully despise you (Matt 5:44). He told us to treat our enemies with love and feed them; in so doing, we heap coals of fire on their heads (Rom 12:20). We're also encouraged to be at peace with all men as long as it depends on us (Rom 12:18).

The second misconception is we deny their existence, perhaps because they're unseen. When Paul was writing to the Ephesians, they understood what he meant. This is because they've experienced the effects of evil spirits operating among them since many of them practice sorcery and believe in unclean spirits (Acts 19:1-20; 23-29).

Spiritual powers / enemies are not interested in our status, riches, position etc. Their sole interest is our souls – to draw our attention from God – and their main battle field is in our thoughts (2 Cor 10:4-6; Job 1:1-22; 2:1-10; 2 Cor 4:4). If you're rebellion against God and not subject to him, then you're subject to these powers (Eph 2:1-10).

One analogy that may explain our perception of our unseen enemies could be illustrated by the current battle with COVID-19 pandemic. When it began in Wuhan, we watched the images on TV, but it didn't seem real until it was brought closer to home and started to affect us. We see the death count grow, and even the Prime Minister was infected. It was only then we began to think about how we could protect ourselves.

In the same way, our spiritual enemies may be invisible, but they're just as insidious and more deadly than COVID-19. And just as we needed protection against COVID-19 such as the PPE, masks, washing our hands, distance and so on, we need protection from our invisible enemies too. That's what Paul was trying to drive home to us in this passage. In other words, there's no need to be afraid as long as we make God's strength our own.

Every warfare is spiritual and that's why we need the father of all spirits (Psa 91:1-2). The devil has a strategy and his own weapons. We will talk more about that next time. But for now, let's be aware that he specialises in trying to find our weaknesses and turn them against us. If we're going to be successful, we need the armour of God.

Bottom line:

Paul used physical protective equipment of warfare to explain the nature of the armour we have in God. Just as they're able to protect soldiers on the battle front, we're not defenseless as a Christian. On the contrary, there's a guarantee from the most high God that we will have victory (Rom 8:37-38; Prov 18:10).
