Contending for our faith

Text: Jude 1-4

The book of Jude is not the shortest book in the bible and not easy reading, but it makes powerful uncompromising statements we should pay attention to. Jude asked us to contend for our faith. To contend is to struggle to overcome a challenging situation or to affirm a position or situation. But first, there must be legitimacy over whatever you contend for and you should be able to defend your position.

For example, if you want to contend over a land issue, you need a title deed. To affirming paternity, a DNA. For an inheritance, a will may be necessary and so on. Our title deed as Christians is the Lord Jesus and our legitimacy is being born again (John 3:16; Acts 4:12) and that legitimacy is granted in two ways. By grace, inputted without doing anything to earn it (Eph 2:8-9) and by indication. This is the sustaining / continuous legitimacy as explained in 2 Corinthians 5:17. Our new / real life after salvation confirms we're in Christ (Col 3:1-4).

Jude asks that we contend for our faith. The Internet has made misinformation and doctrinal falsehood pervasive and easily accessible. Everyone now have an opinion and there are people who shape / influences opinion. Truth seem relative / parallel. Jude warns against insidious messaging trends that creep in, masquerading as truth (Matt 24:24; 2 Tim 3:1-5). We are must guide against being swayed by falsehoods.

How do we contend for our faith?

First, we must be gatekeepers and become a student of the word of God (Col 3:16). We cannot continue to be spoon-fed the word of God. We must instead become Holy Spirit-fed as we allow the word of God to come alive for us. It will require having a personal relationship with the word of God that's constant and consistent.

Contending is not about arguing or setting people to rights. Every scripture can be used to defend anything for the most part. We need a personal relationship with Christ and know the truth. And the source of that truth for Christians is not in the giftedness of our leaders, it is the person of Christ.

Not only that, we must live a life that models the word of God. Our lifestyle must conform to the word of God and be influenced by it (1 Tim 6:11-12; Rom 12:1-2). For example, we must flee from sin and model that in our speech and actions. We must also model the truth and the life of God, and be conscious of our destination and our eternal home.

Bottom line:

As Christians and in our churches, we must become the church of Jesus, following and modelling the examples set by him, including outside the walls of our church building or group. We must go out and become salt and light to the world. That's how we contend for our faith.
