FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

The process of peace

Text: Philippians 4:1-7

For some time we've explored the book of Philippians and one of the things we've discussed is how important relationship, even in the church. We all want a peaceful life, unencumbered and fulfilled. At times, we may be full of dread or be detached in our own home or in certain places and this may be because of our relationships with people we know or don't know. People (refugees) have been known to travel through untold dangers or deserts in search of peace.

Sometimes, it's not about how wealthy or loved we are or revered for that matter. Today's text tells us to be joyful even in all of those circumstances, but how can that be possible. It is possible because peace is a state of mind and it has a process outlined in Philippians 4:4-7. Peace can be lost through our own actions and it can be given (Lk 19:41-44; Jn 14:27).

We must note that God doesn't need our help or need us to do anything before he grants us peace and not everything we do is sanctioned by God. For example, God told David he cannot build him a temple (2 Sam 7:1-3). Taking steps that God has not sanctioned may sometimes be the source of our lack of peace.

Every beginning has an end, which is often a motivation for taking certain steps. A vision could be a motivational end for a purpose (2 Chro 2:6-10). It gives us something to work towards and that can also bring us peace. Just as Solomon needed to be a man of peace to build a temple for God (in contrast with his father David), we need peace to build him a temple in our lives too.

As Christians, we must cultivate a peace that is not necessarily the absence of strife and the first instruction in our text today is not to worry about anything, and instead pray about everything. We're also encouraged to thank him for all he has done (Phil 4:4-7).

The story of David and Goliath is a great illustration. The Israelites were paralysed by fear until David arrived on the scene (1 Sam 17:1-51). Hannah's husband Elkanah told her he's better than ten sons and yet she wasn't at peace about being childless (1 Sam 1:8). These shows it is about attitude and the state of our mind. When we cast our cares onto God, we will experience peace (Psa 55:22).

Bottom line:

Ultimately, there's no peace without Jesus. He is the Prince of peace (Isa 9:6-7). Therefore, if we want peace, we must know and have Jesus in our lives.
