FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

What does the bible say about abortion?

Text: Exodus 21:22-25

Abortion is a divisive topic, more so now even among Christians. It may be odd therefore that the bible's got nothing definitive to say about it. That may be because abortion, infanticide, child abandonment and the general lack of welfare for women and children was common, some permitted under Roman law. In fact, several Old Testament passages referenced killing of children or sacrificing them to idols (e.g. 2 Kn 17:17).

However, there's no doubt about the value of all human beings in God's kingdom. We're precious to him and there are verses confirming that (Ex 20:13; Acts 17:25; Ps 139:13-16; Job 10:8-9; Eph 1:3-4). One question that's always been is when life begins for a foetus. Is it from conception or not. Again, the bible doesn't clarify, but it may give us a clue to deduce from some of the verses quoted. God have plans for each of us, even before we were conceived.

We could also look to a story illustrating Solomon's wisdom in 1 Kings 3:16-28. Mothers would typically sacrifice everything to make sure their children are okay and for the most part, we trust them to. It is odd therefore, when the society cannot trust them to make the right decisions about abortion.

However, we can infer from lack of prescriptive law in the bible that God trusts us to make this decision. We may never understand why, but God allows us to choose him and to obey the laws he did give us, such as populating the earth (Gen 1:28; 9:7), not to kill (Ex 20:13), to love our neighbours (Mk 12:30-31) and so on. He also left us Jesus, his word and the Holy Spirit to guide us (Js 4:17; Jn 16:13; Rom 8:15).

However, if we get it wrong, as long as we're not operating in wilful disobedience, a life of sinfulness or led by flesh (2 Tim 4:10; Rom 6:1-2; Titus 1:16; Gal 5:16), we should know as Paul said there's no condemnation and nothing we do can separate us from the love of God. Not things present or to come (Rom 8:1; 35-39).

Bottom line:

We have the mind of Christ in us (1 Cor 2:16). Let's trust that the Holy Spirit will guide us when we have to make difficult decisions. May we heed our father's voice when he talks to us through the Holy Spirit in Jesus name.
