FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Jesus 101

Text: 1 Thessalonians 2:19; 3:11-13; 4:15-18; 5:1-3; 9-10

Once I had a vision and saw the whole world burning. At the time, I wasn't sure what to believe, but I felt it wasn't about anything good. Visions may come to us in a way we don't understand until they're happening and often the way we feel about them dictates what we believe. It may be difficult to share them, especially when it isn't good, maybe because we're afraid of disbelief. When we make declarations like all things work together for our good, it may be like that too.

There's a theme running through the letter of Paul to the Thessalonians and we can see it in the above verses. Our hope and belief is that Jesus came, died, rose and will return again to take us to heaven, so that we live with him forever (1 Thes 5:10). It is a message of encouragement and the kind of message that are often easier to pass on. Difficult ones are both harder to say or receive (Matt 24:3-44).

Today, we see violence everywhere around the world. Inflation and the cost of living crisis seem to be getting worse. Then we see a contrast in the book of Revelations, where there's money but no food (Rev 6:5-6). Paul said God chose to save us and not to pour his anger on us (1 Thes 5:9). In all of these, Paul wants us to have faith that God is still working and to be prepared.

This may not be a message we want to hear. It doesn't mean tribulation will not happen and no one knows when (Matt 24:36-37). In times like these, our response shouldn't be fear or panic, because God is going to save us (1 Thes 5:9; Lk 21:28; Heb 12:2). Let's also cultivate the habit of consulting and listening to the guidance of the Holy Spirit. That's who we need at a time like this to get us through, so we can avoid the land mines on the way.

Bottom line:

Life is cyclical and Jesus warns us about the end time (Matt 24:3-44). It will be challenging and right now, things may be hard and dark, but dawn is coming (Rom 13:12). God is still moving, speaking and working all things for good (Rom 8:28). Always remember joy comes in the morning (Psa 30:5).
